

The design is simple and the same across all devices, the user follows on from the image to a brief bio then straight into the projects content. No searching around for anything, simple contrasting colours design.

My Chinese family name is in the background in red as both a styling feature, a contrast to the simple black and white design (the hero image is a b&w photo of the view from the mountain over the forest from my home in China).